OREGON.

The chicken-pox is the most fashionable thing in Union county at this time.

Maj. Dean of McMinnville has gone prospecting to Tillamook. If he likes it he will remain.

The people served are highly pleased with the establishment of the mail route from La Grande via Summerville to the Wallowa valley.

Messrs. Reese, Babbington, Brandon, Boswell and others left La Grande for the Wallowa last week, taking with them something over 600 head of cattle.

The Statesman says: Yesterday there arrived here from Missouri to the care of Wesley Graves, a pair of China pigs, full blood, and a Berkshire pig, full blood, for Mr. Nelson, of Independence, Oregon.

Rev. C. W. Shaw, late of Albany, has just removed to Salem to reside. At the decease of Father Waller he was elected Agent for the Wallamet University, and he is about to enter upon the duties of that office.

The La Grande Sentinel of the 15th says James Tully (Tennas Jim) returned yesterday from the Wallowa, and reports the streams rising, grass looking green, no snow in the valley, and scalps reposing peacefully upon the heads of the inhabitants.

Our correspondent at Hillsboro says the fine weather has set the farmers and everybody else to stirring around at a lively rate, except a few "hungry brothers," who are waiting for something to turn up. Gardening is the rage at Hillsboro.

A Douglas county correspondent says Mr. Thos. Farley has been shipping quite large quantities of sand-stone from a quarry three miles south of Oakland. The stone is said to be very similar to that used on the Custom House building in this city.

The schools taught at Union, Gibson's and Imbrie's school houses, in Washington county, had a spelling match at the Baptist church, six miles northeast of Hillsboro, a few days ago. The Hillsboro school was expected to go out, but did not. The contest was a spirited one, and resulted in a victory for the Imbrie district.

Parties who have been back as far as the summit of the Blue Mountains lately, say that the snow ranges from six to eleven feet, and that it is packed very hard. It is said to be eight or nine feet at Meacham's. If this should all melt and come down at one thaw, there would be such a flood as would astonish "the oldest inhabitant."

In 1868 an appropriation was made to repair the monument of the late Samuel R. Thurston, the first Delegate to Congress from Oregon. This appropriation was never expended. The monument is somewhat dilapidated, and the Secretary of State is having a new base put under it, and such other work done as is necessary to beautify and preserve the structure.

Our Oakland correspondent says that everybody up there is talking about school matters. It is proposed by some to move the school house from the old to the new town, while others strenuously oppose the measure. He says if the proposition to move the present house does not carry, another will be built at the new town. A very good alternative, as communities do not often have too many school houses.

An old man named Wm. Layfield, who lived in Oakland, started to go from the house of General Williams to Mr. Aaron Alden's some three weeks ago, and nothing has been seen or heard of him since. Several parties have been engaged in constant search for a number of days. On last Tuesday one of them returned to Oakland, and reported that they had found the old gentleman's cane; and the supposition is that he had perished, but by what cause was unknown. Our informant says the search will be diligently continued.

No Small Shakes.

[From the Walla Walla Union.]

Mr. Covington, who has a trading post on the Columbia river at White Stone, informs us that he spent the winter in that country, and was there at the time of the earthquake last fall. He says that he counted

ONE HUNDRED AND FORTY TWO DISTINCT SHOCKS.

Continuing at irregular intervals for forty-two days. At one place he saw a crack in the surface of the earth which is now open for about one hundred and fifty yards in length, and is from two to three feet wide at the top, and from two to six feet deep. At another place he saw where the bank of the Columbia river had for two or three hundred yards in length, and for a width of about fifty yards. The mountains and cliffs were so shaken up and appear to be so greatly agitated and disturbed that large masses of rock are still constantly falling, tumbling and sliding down.

COURSE OF THE COLUMBIA CHANGED.

Formerly there was a stream or outlet to Lake Chelan about a quarter of a mile long, by which the waters of that lake were emptied into the Columbia—now, however, the river has changed its course so that it runs right to the lower end of the lake, and the two bodies unite. Our informant says that the Indians tell him that about thirty miles below White Stone, a high cliff or mountain which formerly stood on the right bank of the Columbia river, now stands on the left, and that they can now easily ford the river at that point.

A BOILING LAKE.

They also say that a lake about fifteen miles from the mouth of the Okanagan river has been agitated, and a dense black smoke seems to issue from its bosom all the time. Mr. Covington inclines to believe the story, for he says that at White Stone the sun has not been plainly visible half a dozen times during the winter, because of a

DENSE SMOKE

That hangs over the whole country. From all that we can learn, the shocks were more severe in the country up the Columbia river, and the effects more noticeable than in any other locality.

NATURAL BRIDGE.

It is also reported that the earthquake made a bridge across the Columbia river, at or near Fort Shepherd. This is in British Columbia, about thirteen miles north of the boundary line. We have not talked with any one who has seen it, but hear it from so many sources that there may be something in it; and it is not altogether improbable that such a thing might occur, as the banks are known to be perpendicular in many places, and a slight disturbance of the earth might cause them to topple over.

"WE ARE THE FAIR SEX."—A short time since, when taking his customary walk, attended by his suite, the Pope halted before an aviary filled with rare birds, among them a magnificent peacock, which, from his brilliant scarlet plumage, has received the sobriquet of "The Cardinal." The bird, which is quite tame, stepped forth from his cage and advanced with slow and stately pace toward the group, heedless of the injunctions of his master: "Come on; don't keep the Pope waiting." Arriving in front of the Holy Father he stood still, with head erect and conscious air, as if saying, "Admire me." As the latter was receiving his meed of petting at the hands of the Pope, the peahen came up in her turn, but modestly remained in the rear of her mate, as if cognizant of her want of brilliancy. His Holiness, turning towards his suite, observed. "Since there are no ladies present, I may venture to call your attention to the fact that in the entire animal tribe, whether volatile, quadruped, or reptile, the male is ever the handsomer. It is only in the human race that the females claim the palm of beauty, having the pretension to style themselves 'the fair sex;' but," added the Holy Father, laughingly, striking his chest with his hand meanwhile, "it is all the mistake of their vanity; we men are the fair sex."

THE TERRITORIES.

Miss Kittie Allen, formerly of Rochester, N. Y, died in Olympia on the 18th inst.

Orlando Packard has been appointed agent at Walla Walla for the Northwestern Stage Company.

It appears that C. B. Bagley, for some time past local editor of the Puget Sound Courier, has retired.

An Olympia hotel employs female waiters, but the landlord finds it don't pay, as the boarders eat so much longer.

A fine specimen of mountain sheep, weighing upwards of two hundred and fifty pounds, was killed near Helena on the 4th inst.

Some young bloods of Olympia are "winding" themselves by taking long walks preparatory to running foot races at the next County Fair.

The Court House, at Walla Walla, will be built on what is known as the Public Square. The location was contested with considerable spirit.

A half barrel of molasses ran away in an Olympia store the other day while the clerk was "talking sweetness" to the girl who brought the jug.

A half-breed boy named James Hays has been held to answer a charge of larceny at Walla Walla. The articles stolen were hair oil, pocket-knives, perfumery and cigars.

The dead body of a wood-chopper (name unknown), was found about ten days since in a cabin near Cicero, Stinking Water Valley, Montana, supposed to have come to his death by the accidental discharge of his shot-gun.

John F. Sublston, who is a native of Inverness, Invernesshire, Scotland, and who is now in some part of the United States, has had some property of value left him, who by corresponding with John Rose, of Walla Walla, W. T., can obtain all particulars.

The Helena Herald says: "The first case of epizootic in this section of Montana, which appeared in the stables of Gilmer & Salisbury a week since, and chronicled by us at the time, has resulted fatally, the noble off wheel old gray succumbing to the disease and passing in his chips at 9:14 P. M. yesterday."

The mountainous regions from which the principal gold placer mines of Montana draw their water supply are burdened with sufficient snow to insure a long and prosperous mining season. The precious metal product of the Territory from gulch and bar diggings promise this year to fully equal the product from this source in 1872.

The Olympia Courier says: "We are pleased to learn that Col. Milroy, who met with such a severe accident on Chehalis Reservation, a short time since, by the accidental severing of an artery, is slowly recovering. It is now thought by his physician and friends that he is nearly out of danger, and may yet recover, and have the use of his limb."

Under the late act of Congress authorizing the erection of Penitentiary buildings in Washington and other Territories, the Acting Secretary of the Interior telegraphed on the 17th inst. to W. E Boone of Olympia, to advertise three weeks for separate proposals for one wing complete and the main building of the Territorial penitentiary.

At Walla Walla, the farmers are making good use of the favorable weather, and are plowing, and putting in grain in every direction. A few more days of such weather as we have been having, would enable farmers to get about all of the small grain planted, which would insure us a good crop. As a general rule, the earlier the better, applies in sowing grain in this country.

The Walla Walla Statesman says: "We learn that work has been commenced on the Walla Walla and Columbia River Railroad, and that nothing now remains in the way of the early completion of the enterprise. All the timber has been got out, and with the spring rise it will be floated down to the Landing, where the company own a steam saw mill and have every convenience for working up timber as required. All or nearly all the iron, rolling stock, box and platform cars, and other appurtenances of a railroad, are now on hand or secured, and so nothing remains in the way of completing the work. A gang of laborers are now at work on some heavy "rock cutting," and when that is completed, there will be nothing in the way of putting down the track. Before the Fourth of July the road will be completed and in running order.

The Walla Walla Union of the 15th inst. says: "During the early portion of the week we had very warm winds and rain in the mountains, which melted the snow and sent the waters down every stream in a way that was very suggestive of a flood. On Wednesday the streams had reached their highest, and soon began to recede because of the weather having turned cold in the mountains. Had it remained warm for another day and night, it is difficult to imagine just what the result would have been. It is quite certain that we would have had more water than we wanted. As it was, the rise was checked just before it got high enough to do much damage. In some places the owners of water lots have not got so much land as they had before the flood, and a few bulkheads and roadways are injured more or less. The flume across Mill creek, at the Main street bridge, which supplies the water works, came down with a crash on Wednesday evening, and washed away. The Touchet seems to have been higher than Mill creek, and the roadways and aprons leading to all the bridges on that stream seem to have been either washed away or damaged. But so far as we have heard only one bridge—between Waitsburg and Dayton—has been carried away. The Walla Walla, Tum-a-lum, and Umatilla rivers have all been very high, but we have not heard of any damage in that direction. The waters, although still high, are gradually receding."

The Courier says: "Mr. Sam'l Coulter of Olympia arrived in time to ship on the North Pacific, Sunday night, some twenty very fine beef cattle, which he had just brought from Oregon, together with about eight head more. He had expected to ship from Kalama by railroad, but the late storms, which swept over the whole country with such fury, put the track in such a condition that it would have been a week before the cattle could have been shipped, so Mr. Coulter chartered a steamer to come down to Monticello, but when it started up the Cowlitz river, the current was strong and so filled with drift wood that it was impossible to proceed and almost to get out again. The stock was finally landed some eight miles below, and had to wade and swim about a mile and a half to high land. Every little stream was overflowing, bridges were gone, and altogether the route was a terrible one to travel, but now ten times worse with a large band of cattle to drive over it. But the drive was made, and in four days, while five and even six days are usually taken for the trip. Only a desperate determination, backed up by great experience in the business, could have brought so difficult an undertaking to a successful issue. Mr. Coulter has now some three hundred head of cattle under contract to arrive from east of the mountains, between this date and the 26th of April, one hundred head to come at a time. As nearly as we can learn he does a larger wholesale business than all other firms in his line on the Sound."

The southerners are engineering a great cotton pool, the admission to which is $5, to test the skill of competitors in making the estimate of the crop of 1872. The person coming nearest the number of bales in the crop, as determined by the Financial Chronicle of September 1, 1873, is to have all the money in the pool, which closed March 18th. Each competitor is to enclose his estimate, with his $5, in a letter to G. W. Trotter, Secretary of the Augusta, Ga, Exchange.

Being personally interrogated he responded that he could not depart from the well established policy of Boutwell; that he could not deviate from it if he would, because he regarded the letter of the President to the retiring Secretary, as mandatory on himself. He said this letter approved what had been done by Boutwell as well as what that official had proposed to do in the future, and that in it the President announced that the people of the country desired no change in financial policy, as certainly he did not himself.

[FROM OUR REGULAR CORRESPONDENT]

WASHINGTON, March 5 1873

The past week has been one of exceeding interest, especially to a stranger It has included several great debates that on the Credit Mobilier cases in the House being the most interesting The two Houses of Congress have frequently held night sessions and drowsed through all the hours until daylight lit their chambers again in ineffectual attempts to dispose of the public business All the appropriation bills have passed, and the wheels of government are therefore lubricated for the year to come The President is placed beyond want for a while with a salary of fifty thousand dollars per annum It may be taken as a good sign that Congress thought worth while when the people hired him over again, to double his wages, though the action of those worthy legislators is beclouded a trifle, and the disinterestedness of their magnanimity has become a matter of reasonable doubt owing to the fact that the increase of salaries includes a heaping up of their own individual half bushels to a pyramidal fullness The appropriation of $7,500 per annum to members of future Congresses may pass as a disinterested act on the part of those who are not re elected, but the retroactive operations of the law to fill the pockets of those who passed the Act has a very questionable look and I am very glad to inform the people of Oregon that Senator Corbett did not vote for this measure and Senator Kelly, I believe, was not present when the Senators were so liberal of the people's money In this connection I call attention to the fact that heads of the most important Bureaus of the Departments, such as Commissioners of Patents, of Indian Affairs of Agriculture and of the General Land Office and Assistant Secretaries—the men who have the greatest labor to perform and whose responsibility is exceeding great, and whose labor not one Congressman in ten could undertake successfully—hitherto have received but three thousand, most of them, as annual salary, while those members of Congress have had five thousand, and their salaries now are only increased to $4 000 while the Congressmen pay themselves $7,500 These Department workers have ceaseless labor and responsibility the year round, while our Congressmen average four months attendance at the Capital a year, and fool away much of that time No doubt the time and services of some of them are invaluable and cheap at the sum to be paid, but the number of those men who can render invaluable service to the nation is unfortunately few

BILLS AND MEASURES

I am sorry to say that the bill to appropriate the proceeds of the Government lands to further endow agricultural colleges has failed to pass That would have been of more practical benefit to Oregon than to almost any other State.

The District of Columbia has received a munificent gift from Congress to aid the public improvements being so gradually made here I have had a half idea that there was a great deal of money squandered in prosecuting these improvements, but it seems that investigation has been made, and both parties in Congress are satisfied that the work is being accomplished at a reasonable price, and they have accordingly granted, in all, about three and a half millions of dollars to render the expense reasonable to the citizens, which I fully endorse as correct, for this is a national city, laid out upon a national design, that can only be carried out by a grander endowment than private property can possibly maintain.

The regular appropriations are all in shape, and it must be confessed that a vast amount of business was accomplished toward the close of the session, but it is inexcusable that such dilatory and shiftless ways are persisted in by every Congress.

The Port Orford Harbor of Refuge will hardly be built in our time if it will require, as Major Robert estimates, $2,000,000 to do the work. Had it been one tenth of that, the sum would have seemed large

Col. Chapman remained here until the last to look after the bill granting liberty to use the timber on public lands in the construction of the Portland, Dalles and Salt Lake railroad, and I have heard of negotiations with capitalists who propose to construct the road if they can obtain the franchise The Colonel deserves to succeed as a recompense for his really great exertions, and he deserves also the respect of all of us for the ability manifested

THE INAUGURATION.

Great efforts were made here to properly celebrate the inauguration, and they were certainly most successful The day was clear but terribly cold, with a wind blowing that was a damper on all enthusiasm and almost extinguished curiosity Crowds had poured into Washington for days previously. All railroads were over-crowded with trains bringing the citizen soldiery by thousands and the citizens themselves by tens of thousands Where they all went to was a marvel, as well as how they got here, and who fed and housed them is a problem that never can be solved They came with shivering enthusiasm, for the cold was intense, and up to this time has been what would pass for rigid winter with us

Pennsylvania Avenue was decorated with flags swung from every window and festooned in frequent arches that spanned the broad street. Toward the Treasury and Presidential mansion the decorations were very fine The procession was a continuation of military display varied and imposing with the first military bands in the union, and as fine perhaps as the world affords, thundering out the martial music to every corps The President rode by in an open carriage and was the observed of all, for of course the nation waited there to see him. Had the weather not been so inclement and the wind so cutting that the immense crowd actually was suffering with cold, the occasion would have been more interesting than any such ever was Washington winds are terrible, and we had them all abroad that day Children went crying through the streets, and yet would not abandon the show while their feet and hands were almost frozen The Inaugural was delivered to an immense throng not an ear of which heard it The scene east of the Capitol was magnificent and grand and the cold wind of March blew over a throng that suffered as much as it enjoyed We rustled away from them by thousands and tens of thousands, and left the unfortunate Executive reading the address at his leisure, for we had to warm up somewhere and that speedily. All things considered, that inauguration day was a queer affair—splendid in arrangement, grand in detail, and witnessed by myriads, as it were You might as well have stood on the shores of Iceland to see a show in midwinter as to have stood here The cold was severe enough to make one think of Arctic explorers and reindeer sleds.

EVENING

Evening came to see the beautiful avenue lit with calcium lights, and all vehicles turned away from it The glare of the reflectors shone all along the well paved and well swept avenue for the mile that lies between the Capitol and the Treasury, and the people promenaded there using the whole width as walking ground

The fire works were very fine, and lit up the scene with great effect It was a vision to be carried in one's memory for always and to be called up to recollection in the after life But it was a cold scene and the bitter wind mocked the pageantry of the day and the glitter of the night, while the air was so bitter that the imagination was chilled beyond the power of appreciation that would have been provided the day and evening had been genial and kindly

The Inauguration Ball even, was a frozen festival, held in a vast ampitheater of temporary nature prepared especially for the occasion

To day the tens of thousands are trying to get away, and they cannot possibly leave f r several days, as the trains cannot take them. It is a pleasure to have seen the splendors of a Capitol fete day, and I only regret that a severe illness from a cold prevents my doing better justice in the way of description of the passing events

A Parisian butcher perceiving that pieces of meat were frequently stolen from the shop front of course by the cat, bethought himself of the old expedient suggested, but not carried out by the fabled rat and determined to bell the robber He therefore fastened a string, some six yards long, with a bell at the end of it, to several nice handy pieces displayed on the board He had not long to wait a piece was hurriedly snatched up and off ran the thief with the string and bell dragging after her, and pursued by the butcher s boy in convulsions of laughter The culprit was a woman, who hearing the bell ringing behind her, and not daring to turn her head ran faster and producing as she ran, still wilder jingling from the bell Having fully enjoyed the scene, the boy at last pointed out the thief to the police, who thought the whole thing was a practical joke and were as much amused as the boy In short, every body but the subject of the experiment was delighted with this sportive method of carrying out a serious public duty.

FIRST TRIP OF THE GOV GROVER

Second Day

WARM RECEPTION OF THE OPPOSITION STEAMER

HARRISBURG, March 20, 1873

The steamer Governor Grover reached this place yesterday afternoon at 6 o clock, having made the run up the river from Albany in the shortest time on record Though the boat is very large, she is constructed with especial reference to the necessities of the navigation of the upper river, and draws less water than it would seem possible that so large a craft could run on With a considerable amount of freight on board, it is said her draught is only sixteen inches, while her great breadth of beam enables her to receive a large amount of freight with a small addition to her depth of water

At Harrisburg, as at the various points below, the advent of the boat was hailed by the people with hearty cheering and other enthusiastic demonstrations It is not to the officers of the boat nor to the projectors of the enterprise, as individuals, that these manifestations of joy are addressed but to these persons as representatives of an opposition to the exactions of the Holladay monopoly that has so sorely oppressed the producers of the country The fact of a strong and fearless competition in the carrying trade is the great fact to which the attention of the community is now joyfully turned It is believed this opposition means business, and that it is not to be run off the river The Holladay line has put down its tariff on the river already to about the same rates as those on the new line which are but little more than rates heretofore charged, and which are still not below living rates to the carrier The excess heretofore charged over these rates was simply so much money extorted from the producers of the country by the Holladay monopoly, because it had the power to do so Chagrined at being thus forced to relax the grasp with which it has been strangling the prosperity of the Wallamet Valley, that Company now sends a man to the towns along the river to intimate to the shippers that if they patronize this competing Company Mr Holladay may remember them, and that it will not be impossible for him, when he has driven off the opposition, to exercise such discriminations against them in the matter of freights as will practically destroy their business. This circumstance I am told of by different merchants on the river Thus is it threatened to punish all who dare exercise the right to choose for themselves what vessels shall carry away their freights This punishment, however, is only possible when they have driven off the opposition Alas, that when! This opposition is not an enterprise in which those embarked in it have invested all their means, but one undertaken by persons who can sustain themselves as well as the old monopoly can I greatly mistake if this opposition has not come to stay

The Grover has two thousand bushels of wheat to carry from this place, and a large amount is to be taken from points below. She will have a good cargo of freight on this her first trip—the first trip through from Portland to these parts ever made by any boat.

Harrisburg is a handsome town of about four hundred inhabitants, well situated on the right bank of the river, with the southern half of the great prairie garden of Linn county immediately in the back-ground. It must continue to be as it now is, the shipping point for a large section of choice agricultural country And it has all the appointments of a well to do town, such as schools, churches, etc, in the best style In addition the ordinary facilities for education, the Commercial College kept by Mr Mort Taylor, is an institution every way creditable to the projector and the place.

Last night the Grover was taken by storm by a large number of ladies and gentlemen who honored the boat with a surprise party The company filled the large and commodious after cabin, and was a very pleasant affair indeed W B Carter, Esq, editor of the Corvallis Gazette, R G Head, Esq, editor of the Benton Democrat, M V Brown, Esq, of the Albany Democrat, and the representatives of the Herald and OREGONIAN, being of the crowd, the press was extensively represented at this impromptu gathering

This morning the guests and passengers assembled and unanimously "resolved" in the American style, in regard to the boat, the officers, the crew, and all the rest—you understand?

G

Half the misunderstandings of those who can least afford to misunderstand each other at all arise from two joint reasons—first, from want of frankness on the part of those who think they have no need to explain, next, from want of faith on the part of those who can take nothing for granted without an explanation.

CITY.

OUT WALKING —The desire to get out of doors and enjoy the pleasant spell of lovely weather, seems to be irresistible to all Bright sunshine, a cloudless sky, and just sufficient breeze to neutralize the slightest tendency towards sultriness, combine to offer such temptations to promenaders that to resist successfully requires a good degree of self denial Fourth street, with its broad, clean stretch of plank roadway, only adds to the desire and completes the picture Sunday is generally the day when all can well afford to spare the time, as it is a day of "common leisure" During the week days we have frequently observed the young lady pupils connected with private and public schools out promenading in a body Yesterday the pupils of the Sisters' school, to the number of 70, were out promenading on Fourth street in charge of the Sisters These pupils ranged in years from 18 to 7, and were arranged in regular order, according to size. Two and two they marched, preceded by the largest and followed by smaller pupils, whose sizes decreased as the distance increased from the head of the column The procession was more than a block in leng h The gaily attired Misses, with their cool and airy looking hats, and cleanly arranged garments, presented a gala appearance not destitute of interest or attraction. With the exception that no baskets were visible, the procession would remind one of a picnic party on the way to the suburbs to spend a day amid quiet, shady groves.

ON THE WAY —Mr R. Jacobs, President of the Oregon City Woolen Mills, departed from New York on Wednesday last, en route for this city. He may be expected to arrive here about the first of the month We are informed that before leaving for the West he had completed all the purchases of machinery for the new woolen mill. The machinery includes all the latest and most improved patents. When put up and ready for operation, there will be no more complete and perfect mill on the Pacific coast, and the machinery, when worked by skilled operators, will be capable of turning out all kinds of woolen fabrics surpassed by no other factory, either in the East or West. Already a large portion of the machinery is on the road, and the remainder is to be shipped by rail in a few weeks. All the machinery is expected to arrive by the time the building is ready for its reception The contract calls for the completion of the building by the 15th of June, but if good weather is vouchsafed, workmen can begin to put up the machinery by the 1st of June, if not prior to that date. Work on both the building and putting up of the machinery will be crowded forward with great activity, as it is the intention of Mr. Jacobs to have the mill ready to turn out fabrics by the 1st of August next

TELFAIR ARRIVED.—The steamer Gussie Telfair arrived yesterday morning from an extensive cruise on the northern coast, whither she went some weeks ago in quest of the lost steamer Geo. S Wright. She brings no additional intelligence other than that which has already been published A few pieces of the wreck, gathered up along the coast, were brought to this port by the Telfair. The only vestiges discovered were the board on which was painted "Geo. S Wright," several pieces of molding, a copper nozzle, and other small fragments. The Gussie Telfair touched at Sitka before her return, and carefully inspected the coast all the way down, but nothing was discovered of the fate or whereabouts of the missing steamer, but the few fragments before mentioned. At Sitka it was learned that the Wright had arrived there in safety and had sailed again for Portland, and the people at that port were as ignorant of what had befallen the steamer as were those here. Finding all efforts of no avail, the Gussie Telfair was at length compelled to abandon the search.

BARREL FACTORY.—Machinery was received some time ago at the sawmill at Knappton for the operation of a barrel factory. This machinery is an improved patent and will perform all the work connected with the manufacture of barrels which is usually done by hand. The staves are sawed out and grooved and put in a condition to be set up The heads of the barrels are also sawed out. All that will be required of the cooper is to make the hoops, cut the groove around on the inside of the barrel near each end, into which the edges of the head are to fit, drive on the hoops and everything is completed. The superior facilities afforded by the machinery will enable the factory to turn out a great number of barrels per day with but few men. A large quantity of spruce lumber, designed for barrels, has been collected at the mill and will be turned to account when the factory is ready for operation. The factory will be run in connection with the sawmill at Knappton, and will have the contract for furnishing the barrels, kits, etc., for the fisheries down the river.

PROPOSING TO IMMIGRATE.—A gentleman arrived on the steamer Ajax who is just from Grand Rapids, Wisconsin. He came to this State to select a locality for a small colony from that State who contemplate removing to Oregon the coming season, to permanently settle This gentleman desires, if possible, to purchase a large tract of land sufficient to enable the colony to settle together. Fifteen families he represents propose to immigrate, provided he can obtain a suitable piece of land. These men are principally farmers, and desire to engage in agriculture, stock raising and the dairy business. This gentleman intends to visit the middle and upper portion of the valley, having in view the selection of a locality best adapted to the occupations of the persons for whom he was to purchase. He expresses himself as well pleased with the limited view he has already obtained of our State.

GOOD WEATHER.—The people of Astoria are rejoicing over the splendid weather, which at present reigns over the provinces of Webfoot We do not experience a pang of the green-eyed monster over the good fortunes of Astoria. The people of that place are as much entitled to a share of the smiles of the weather clerk as those of any other section of the State. However as Neptune and the said clerk are residing in close proximity, there are frequent contentions which culminate in storms and a squally time generally, in which the Astorians are the sufferers invariably. But the careless warrings of these worthies who are said to have possession and control of the elements, have come to a temporary close A compromise has been effected—at least for a time —the sun shines brightly, the waters are smooth as a mirror, the winds have been cradled, everything is lovely and the average Astorian is supremely happy.

SAILED FOR PORTLAND —The steamship Oriflamme sailed yesterday morning from San Francisco, having on board the following passengers Ben Holladay and servant, J A Strowbridge and wife, J Von Volkenburg, F A Horning, A Grandin, M E Houston and family, Miss E Anspacker, Mrs C Levy, Miss A M Griffin, G L Plympton, Rev. Dr. Freeman, S Williams, Isaac Blum, S E Young, H Dusenbury, Jacob Mayer, Geo Crofton, M J Jacobs, M Strickler and family, J Crofton and family, C Parks and wife, M S Depew, D P Thompson, Kirk Sheldon, H Lbright, C W Johnson, A B Crossman, Julius Hass, M Jackson, Maj W A Bucker, U S A, Mrs G H Clarke, A W Kinney and wife, N Baum, T Harper, L Kline, J Senders, T J Stomp, Wm Geoverner, Miss J McNamara, Mrs S Isaacs and child, B Blumand, W J Franklin and wife, J Smith

TROUTING —Trout catching has begun already this season. A young gentleman of our acquaintance caught a number of these speckled beauties a few days since, in a stream some miles east of the city. He stated that if any reliance was to be placed in his delicately cultivated palate, these trout had not lost any of their attractive qualities by the great quantities of rain which have fallen last winter The example set by our young friend may prove contagious, and cause such wanton onslaught on the finny tribe that the Portland Sporting Club will have to utter a protest against the proceedings. Fried trout for breakfast offer a temptation which we fear, alas, no Game Law can fence about with sufficient terrors to restrain the angling propensities of piscator al epicurians For such a meal who would not incur dires penalties

NO PAPER.—In behalf of the editress of the New Northwest, we offer an apology to the numerous readers for the non-appearance of that paper this week. The three sons of Mrs Duniway, on whom devolve the entire composition of the paper, have been unable to be at their accustomed posts during the present week, and hence the unavoidable omission.

CITY.

OUT WALKING —The desire to get out of doors and enjoy the pleasant spell of lovely weather seems to be irresistible to all Bright sunshine a cloudless sky and just sufficient breeze to neutralize the slightest tendency towards sultriness combine to offer such temptations to promenaders that to resist successfully requires a good degree of self denial Fourth street with its broad clean stretch of plank roadway only adds to the desire and completes the picture Sunday is generally the day when all can well afford to spare the time as it is a day of common leisure During the week day we have frequently observed the young lady pupils connected with private and public schools out promenading in a body Yesterday the pupils of the Sisters school to the number of were out promenading on Fourth street in charge of the Sisters These pupils ranged in years from 18 to and were arranged in regular order according to size Two and two they marched preceded by the largest and followed by smaller pupils whose sizes decreased as the distance increased from the head of the column The procession was more than a block in length The gaily attired Misses, with their cool and airy looking hats and cleanly arranged garments presented a gala appearance not destitute of interest or attraction With the exception that no baskets were visible the procession would remind one of a picnic party on the way to the suburbs to spend a day amid quiet shady groves

ON THE WAY —Mr R Jacobs, President of the Oregon City Woolen Mills, departed from New York on Wednesday last en route for this city He may be expected to arrive here about the first of the month We are informed that before leaving for the West he had completed all the purchases of machinery for the new woolen mill The machinery includes all the latest and most improved patents When put up and ready for operation, there will be no more complete and perfect mill on the Pacific coast, and the machinery when worked by skilled operators, will be capable of turning out all kinds of woolen fabrics surpassed by no other factory, either in the East or West. Already a large portion of the machinery is on the road, and the remainder is to be shipped by rail in a few weeks All the machinery is expected to arrive by the time the building is ready for its reception The contract calls for the completion of the building by the 15th of June, but if good weather is vouchsafed, workmen can begin to put up the machinery by the 1st of June, if not prior to that date Work on both the building and putting up of the machinery will be crowded forward with great activity, as it is the intention of Mr Jacobs to have the mill ready to turn out fabrics by the 1st of August next.

TELFAIR ARRIVED.—The steamer Gussie Telfair arrived yesterday morning from an extensive cruise on the northern coast, whither she went some weeks ago in quest of the lost steamer Geo S Wright She brings no additional intelligence other than that which has already been published A few pieces of the wreck gathered up along the coast, were brought to this port by the Telfair The only vestiges discovered were the board on which was painted "Geo S Wright," several pieces of molding a copper nozzle, and other small fragments The Gussie Telfair touched at Sitka before her return, and carefully inspected the coast all the way down but nothing was discovered of the fate or whereabouts of the missing steamer, but the few fragments before mentioned At Sitka it was learned that the Wright had arrived there in safety, and had sailed again for Portland, and the people at that port were as ignorant of what had befallen the steamer as were those here Finding all efforts of no avail, the Gussie Telfair was at length compelled to abandon the search

GOOSE—GOLD —Æsop, in his fables, tells of a goose which laid daily a golden egg and of how the proprietor of the said bird not content to receive a golden egg each day, rashly killed it in hopes of securing the rich prize at once We were reminded of the goose and the golden eggs by a little circumstance which transpired in this city some time ago, which, in some respects is analogous Last Christmas a gentleman in this city purchased two fine large geese, which he took home to grace his festive board On dissecting the fowls, after they had been called upon to pass in their checks a number of pieces of gold were discovered in each of the gizzards At the time the event was duly chronicled by the daily press of the city and the public soon forgot about the circumstance But the gentleman who purchased the geese treasured the gold and the circumstance up Being an old miner he began to prospect the situation After diligent search and persistent enquiries he at length ascertained where the geese were raised Having obtained the precise locality, he will start up this morning on the train with the determination of 'prospecting' the ranch Should he not succeed in raising the color as regards auriferous deposits he can gently raise the geese from their roost and so not make his tour entirely without profit

EXAMINED FOR INSANITY —A man named Jas Lampson was examined yesterday before the County Judge charged with being in an unsound mental condition For some time past he had conducted himself in a singular manner, until the gentleman at whose hotel he was boarding reported the case to the proper authorities Lampson was examined by the physician but the opinion was that his mental aberration was solely attributable to the too frequent use of intoxicating stimulants and the erysipelas combined He was therefore ordered by the Court to be placed under constant medical treatment and allowed to remain in the county jail until his condition, mentally and physically was improved

WILL DONATE —A gentleman from Astoria informs us that the citizens of that place have held several meetings recently to take action cooperative with the general movement of the farmers up the valley in regard to the organization of clubs the establishment of a line of boats, the construction of wharves, warehouses etc. The citizens of Astoria to show their hearty sympathy in the movement and a desire to assist the same by every means in their power, generously agreed to donate 800 feet of river front for wharf and warehouse privileges to any company who would construct these needed improvements

TOWED TO VANCOUVER —The bark Free Trade, which has been loading with cottonwood bolts at the mouth of the Wallamet was towed opposite Vancouver yesterday The remainder of the cargo will be received at that point Up to yesterday the bolts had been conveyed to the bark on scows The stage of water admitting the passage of a vessel as far as Vancouver, it was thought the bark could be loaded with greater expedition by being towed near the point where the bolts have been piled ready for shipment, than by bringing down the load on barges

WITH LUMBER —Within the next fortnight, an immense quantity of lumber will be carried away from the lower Columbia for San Francisco There are now loading at St Helens three schooners each having a capacity to receive 175 000 feet, a large brig with a capacity of 200 000 At Knappton the Perpetua, is loading with the same material—has probably 120 000 feet,—and the schooner Gotoma is receiving a cargo, and will be ready to sail for San Francisco in a week

WAIVED AN EXAMINATION —The case of the State vs Peter G Koch came up yesterday in the Police Court for a preliminary investigation The defendant concluded to stand the examination, but on the introduction of a portion of the testimony, Koch waived and his bonds were fixed at $1,000 In default he was committed The defendant was arraigned on a charge of larceny by bailee of $300

INSANE PATIENTS —For the first time since the opening of fair weather, the wardens of the Insane Asylum, East Portland had a number of the female patients of that institution out walking about the grounds yesterday To these unfortunate inmates it was a rare treat, very highly enjoyed and not soon to be forgotten by them, after the long and interminable winter

FOR LARCENY —In Justice Ryan's Court, on Wednesday, James Conner was arraigned on a charge of larceny The character of the testimony establishing the guilt of the defendant to the mind of the Court Conner was fined $25 and costs, and in default was committed to jail for 30 days.

FAT CATTLE —Ten head of beef cattle were brought over on the steamer Vancouver yesterday Those cattle were in splendid condition to grace the butchers' stalls They are to supply the Portland markets No more 'blue beef' while those cattle supply the city

The Star in the East

A brilliant star may now be seen during the evening in the eastern sky sharing, for more than a hour after its first rising, the honor of starry sovereignty with the planet Venus, as sinking toward the horizon she hold her regal court in the western heavens

The star is the planet Jupiter which will be an object of interesting study throughout the night The two largest and brightest of the planetary orbs are now performing the office of evening stars, Venus reigning supreme in the west for three hours after sun set, and Jupiter beaming with imperial light from his appearance in the east in early evening till he pales in the ruddy glow of morning They are the only planets to the naked eye now visible in the evening and can not fail to be distinguished from the thronging crowds of lesser stars, by their softer light, transcendent brightness, and superior size

Jupiter is situated in the constellation Leo, or the Lion, not far from Regulus, its leading brilliant the first star in the handle of the Sickle which makes this group so familiarly known to observers If the course of the planet be watched, it will be seen to retrograde or move backward among the stars Thus it will continue to do until the 17th of April, when it will apparently retrace its course, and reach the vicinity of its present position during the month of May Its motion can now be easily traced from its vicinity to the star Regulus, which, although of the first magnitude, seems comparatively faint in the presence of the brighter planet

This giant member of planetary brotherhood presents three distinct branches of astronomical study in the telescopic, photometric, and spectroscopic departments of science The telescope reveals exquisitely beautiful colored bands or belts, covering its disk immense rifts or openings in these bands, and gigantic disturbances around its huge circumference, on a scale of which terrestrial movements gives us little idea, and also a sight of the four moons which revolve around it The photometer measures its light and proves that it gives far more light than the other planets would under the same conditions, calculating the proportion as three times that of Mars and that four times that of the moon It also shows the comparative brilliancy of the planet from the apparent blackness of the satellites as they transit its disk The spectroscope yields its evidence with much more difficulty, for as the planet shines principally by reflected light its spectrum is not so bright as that of a star of the second magnitude, and the faintness of the lines in the Jovian spectrum makes them difficult to interpret Aqueous vapor is plainly detected and the best physicists, Huggins, Secchi, Janssen, and many others, are patiently working to decipher the meaning of the above imperceptible lines which are of such importance in the interpretation of the starry alphabet

All observations strengthen the theory that the Jovian planet gives out heat and some light from its own mass, that it has not yet cooled down to anything like the consistency of our globe, and that it acts as a subordinate sun to the four satellites that revolve around it, and form with it a solar system in miniature

Who then can fail to look with more than a passing interest upon his noblest creation of the planetary worlds, either when, glowing with light it looks down upon us as the radiant evening star, or when it illustrates those mysterious material laws which rule as easily and harmoniously the motion of an orb fourteen hundred times as large as ours, and accompanied in its course by four revolving satellites, as they control the motion of our earth and its solitary moon.—Providence Journal

The Atmosphere of Spring

With every change of season we have a change in the hygienic character of the air In the spring it is impregnated especially in low lying wet districts with unhealthy vapors which generate chills and fever, rheumatism, indigestion, bilious [illegible] disease of the organs of respiration It is therefore particularly necessary at this time of the year to invigorate and regulate the system in order to enable it to repel the malarious influences to which it is more or less subjected The stomach should be toned the bowels freed from obstruction the blood purified and the nerves braced and strengthened This can be easily done Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, now everywhere procurable, stand in the whole range of remedies and preventives prescribed by the faculty or recommended through the press There is not one that combines in such an admirable degree great efficiency and perfect harmlessness It is a positive antidote to malaria Whoever takes it habitually may breathe the atmosphere of the worst fever and ague locality without danger Damp and chilling winds make little or no impression on the organization reinforced with this powerful vegetable invigorant, and consequently it is a good safeguard against asthma, coughs, colds and other pulmonary complaints It is not recommended as a remedy for this latter class of maladies but simply as a means of strengthening the system against the external conditions and changes which occasion them As a tonic invigorant and alterative it will be found extremely beneficial to persons who are peculiarly sensitive to such atmospheric influences

Stanzas for Music.

[From an unfinished drama.]

Thou art mine, thou hast given thy word;
 Close, close in my arms thou art clinging;
 Alone for my ear thou art singing
A song which no stranger hath heard:
But afar from me yet, like a bird,
Thy soul, in some region unstirred,
On its mystical circuit is winging.

Thou art mine, and I have made thee mine own;
 Henceforth we are mingled forever;
 But in vain, all in vain, I endeavor—
Though round thee my garlands are thrown,
And thou yieldest thy lips and thy zone—
To master the spell that alone
 My hold on thy being can sever.

Thou art mine, thou hast come unto me!
 But thy soul, when I strive to be near it—
 The innermost fold of thy spirit—
Is as far from my grasp, is as free,
As the stars from the mountain-tops be,
As the pearl in the depths of the sea,
 From the portionless king that would wear it.

Call this cold weather! Why, it's dog-days and yellow fever to what it used to be when I was young. Yes, them was cold snaps when me and Paul Revere used to skate down to Mindt's Lodge to play hockey with the Provincetown boys. Probabilities.

The probabilities of the recurrence of the various convulsions of nature are being reduced to a science—certainly, though slowly. Some volcanic eruptions are found to be absolutely periodical; data are being collected wherefrom to calculate the yawning of earthquakes; and even the seemingly intractable simoons of the Southern Ocean are being organized into a system. All nature is found to be the servant of law, and the student finds herein a clue to the ultimate mastery of all the furies.

The late terrible storm has stimulated inquiry respecting similar freaks of climate in Minnesota, but there are no records or recollections furnishing any parallel whatever.

Records have been kept at Fort Snelling for 50 years, but although several cold terms have been registered, nothing approaching the severity of our last storm has ever been experienced. A singular fact observed in regard to extremes of climate in the State is their recurrence at regular periods of about eight years. In rainfall it is very marked. Our "old settlers" remember the great flood of 1851, when the Mississippi reached the highest stage ever known. Precisely eight years after, the high tide of '59 came, when the maximum was reached on the 3d of May, and two bridges and a large number of logs were swept down the Mississippi. Again eight years later, we had the flood of 1867, which carried fifty million feet of logs over the falls, and carried off almost every bridge, dam, and mill on the Sauk River.

The periods of drought and extreme low water occur regularly at almost equal intervals between those of high water. Thus in 1855 and '56 (the latter known as grasshopper year;) again in 1863 and '64 the severest drought ever known, and navigation to St. Paul almost entirely suspended. Again, in 1871, extreme low water prevailed, and crops were badly injured by drought.

These phenomena occur with the regularity of ocean waves. At regular periods come seasons of unusual rainfall; and, like the tenth wave, one is marked high above all the others, and recurs with the regularity of day and night. There is a rhythm in all the forces of nature, and we must keep step or suffer the consequences.

None of the things happen by chance, but all of them by rule. We have learned the laws which govern the ocean tides, so that we know, not only when to expect them, but also which ones will be strong and which ones weak. It is not too much to suppose that with the rapidly increasing means of observation, and the deep interest taken by governments and scientists everywhere in the laws of climate, we may yet learn to calculate with certainty and for years in advance, what years will be dry or wet; when we may expect years of storm and cold; in what years, indeed, we may plant corn and beans, and when, instead, we must put our trust in wheat and oats, that require less summer heat to mature; what years to cut our logs on small brooks with certainty of driving them out, and when we may beware of trusting all our logs in the booms of the Mississippi.

The cycles of temperature coincide nearly with those of rainfall in recurrence and duration, but they fall a little later. The extreme of cold happens somewhat later than the extreme of drought. The winters of 1855–6 and 1856–7 are remembered as the coldest ever known in Minnesota previous to the present. Again, in 1863, very severe cold was experienced. The first eleven days of that year were almost duplicated by the last eleven in December, 1872. But the great storm of Jan. 7, 8, and 9, 1873, is quite without parallel. This is the great tidal wave of the cycle. Probably its like will not be seen again within eight periods of eight years each—that is, till 1937.

There is no science more exact in the long run than that of the probabilities. A betting man, who has mastered it, is as certain of a fortune as he is to squander it riotously and ruinously when acquired.

Applying what we have seen in regard to these climatic periods in Minnesota, what are the probabilities?

1. For a series of six or seven years next to come, of mild and moderate winters, but let all beware of recklessly tempting the storms of 1880 and 1881.

2. That for a couple of years we may have average seasons of rainfall, gradually increasing till 1875, when lumbermen will do well to leave their surplus logs in lakes or very safe booms, and that, thereafter, the seasons will grow dryer until in 1878 or 1879, when steamboatmen may find it advisable to abandon the upper river trade to those who have not studied the chances.—Minneapolis Tribune.

A Fearful Visitor.—The Paris Soir relates the following story: "A Madame Bonneau, living in the Rue Descartes, was sitting in her parlor a few days since, awaiting her husband's return to dinner, when a man of wild and haggard appearance entered, and seating himself opposite to her, addressed her in the following terms: 'I am a great doctor. I can effectually cure all headaches. I have heard that you suffer from that cause, and I am come to cure you.' The lady, perceiving that she had to deal with a madman, prudently seemed to fall into his humor, and asked what was his method of treatment. 'Simple enough, madame,' said he, drawing a razor from his pocket; 'I cut off the head, and then, after having well cleaned it, I replace it upon the shoulders.' Upon this he prepared to suit the action to his words. Madame Bonneau, with great coolness, professed her readiness to submit to the operation, but suggested that she should fetch a towel from the next room to prevent her dress from being stained. Her visitor assented to the reasonableness of this suggestion, and she left the room, locking the door behind her. Upon her return with some police officers they found that the unfortunate maniac had cut his own throat, but not fatally. It was ascertained that he had escaped from a lunatic asylum at Clermont les Pres, and had been vainly sought for during a whole month."

How Drinking Causes Apoplexy.—It is the essential nature of all wines and spirits to send an increase amount of blood to the brain. The first effect of taking a glass of wine or stronger form of alcohol, is to send the blood there faster than common, hence the circulation that gives the red face. It increases the activity of the brain, and it works faster, and so does the tongue. But the blood goes to the brain faster than common, it returns faster, and no special harm results. But suppose a man keeps on drinking, the blood is sent to the brain so fast, in larger quantities, that in order to make room for it the arteries have to enlarge themselves; they increase in size, and in doing so they press against the more yielding and flaccid veins which carry the blood out of the brain and thus diminish their size, their pores, the result being that the blood is not only carried to the arteries of the brain faster than is natural or healthful, but it is prevented from leaving it as fast as usual; hence a double set of causes of death are in operation. A man may drink enough brandy or other spirits in a few hours, or even minutes, to bring on a fatal attack of apoplexy.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

Financial.

Thursday Evening, March 20, 1873.

Gold in New York to-day, 115½.

Portland Legal Tender rates, 87½ buying; 88½ selling.

Gold bars are quotable at 800 fine.

Wheat in Liverpool—Average California, 11s 6d@11s 8d; club 11s 10d@12s 4d.

The local Money market is devoid of important change during the past week. The favorable weather has given increased activity to general business, and the excitement in trade circles incident to the opening days of spring after our long rainy season is manifest on every hand. The financial affairs of the Pacific Coast are clearly in a depressed condition compared with other points in the Western States, but not discouragingly so when we look at Eastern cities. While New York still complains of a tight money market, Chicago and other cities in the West rejoice in a comfortable ease on the same point. The circumstance is attributable mainly to the fact that our manner of doing business has been an unusual one for communities with small population and limited capital. Our imports have outrun our exports to a large amount, and the excess hangs like an incubus over the business of the country. We have taken up the luxurious customs of older countries before we reached our majority in the age of States, and ere we were able to produce for ourselves the wherewithal to gratify this disposition to imitate the manners of older, more permanent and wealthier communities.

The gold premium continues remarkably firm for this season of the year. The upward tendency appears to be due to a combination of causes. The supply on the market is limited, as compared with what is usually held at this period of the year and the demands for customs duties are very large, exceeding by far those of former corresponding periods, while there is no large amount of coin to come out of the Treasury before the payment of the May interest. Henry Clowes & Co., in their monthly circular letter says the condition of our foreign exchanges also is regarded by many as exposing us to continued large shipments of specie to Europe. As before alluded to, large amounts of bills on London have been borrowed by stock houses, which will have to be provided for within sixty days, the issues being made entirely upon credit; and but for these bills, the rates of exchange would probably have been now close upon the specie-shipping point. Moreover, large as were the imports of merchandise last year, this year shows a still more active movement, the importations at this port, from January first to present date, being $60,000,000 against $54,305,000 for the corresponding time of last year; whilst in the exports there is an increase of only $1,500,000. It is apparent, therefore, that we have to rely upon finding a market in Europe for an unusually large amount of our securities—a condition of things which is always conducive to firmness in the gold premium. The chief consideration, however, contributing to the advance in gold, appears to have been the exceptionally low supply at present in the country. The exports of specie from New York and San Francisco, last year, amounted to $96,000,000, or nearly $25,000,000 in excess of the average annual export from the country. The shipments from all ports combined probably exceeded $105,000,000; which is $25,000,000 in excess of the generally estimated annual production of gold and silver in the United States. It would thus seem that, in 1872, we lost about 25,000,000 of our stock of the precious metals. The last statement of the public debt would indicate that the drain may even have exceeded this amount. On 1st February, 1872, the amount of coin stated to be in the Treasury was $103,400,000, but that sum really included $11,200,000 of claims upon gold received from the Loan Syndicate; so that the amount of actual gold in the Treasury was then 192,200,000.

Sugars and Syrups.

On the first of the present month, the agents of sugar refiners here held a meeting and advanced the price of syrup 10 cents per gallon, crushed sugars 1 cent per lb, and white sugars 1¼ cents per lb. On yesterday a further advance of 10 cents per gallon on syrups was agreed upon. This is a very material advance but it is claimed that the present rate is very little above the cost of production and freight.

Home Produce Market.

WHEAT—During the week wheat has been generally very quiet, as the vessels now in port have their cargoes secured, and the two to arrive being uncertain as to time, shippers have not been disposed to urge the market at all. In the meantime, one or two firms have been in the field to buy what was offered. We learn that to-day a Salem miller has sold to an exporting firm of this city 500 tons, 16,500 bushels on private terms, but perhaps a figure a little higher than $1 60 per cental, as the seller was offered that, by a third party. However, quotations for common lots cannot be obtained above $1 60 per cental. The purchase above noted is the largest made here for sometime, and we believe will about supply all present demand for export purposes.

FLOUR—The market is dull and prices slightly inclined to weaken from last quotations. Shipments are slow, owing to low rates prevailing in the markets of demand. Two or three brands are jobbing at $5 50, though sales are slow, while good country brands are quotable at $4 25@4 75 ₩ barrel. Superfine is steady at $4. Late advices by mail from New York indicate that Oregon brands of Flour are held in high esteem.

OATS—The receipts have fallen off somewhat, though occasional lots are still coming forward. The export demand is fair, and prices firmly maintained at 60c ₩ bushel, sacks included.

BARLEY—Quotations are nominal at $1 40@1 50 ₩ 100 lbs, with some activity in the demand for local consumption.

FEED—The demand is moderately supplied at our last week's quotations, which are steady. The supply is somewhat less, but the demand is also diminishing.

GRAHAM FLOUR—Prices remain steady at $2 75 ₩ bale of 100 lbs. The demand is fairly supplied.

BUCKWHEAT FLOUR—There is no activity in the demand, and prices are dull at $5 50 ₩ 100 lbs.

OAT MEAL—With a limited demand, which is well supplied, we note no important change in prices as last given.

HOMINY—The market is firm, and quotations are furnished at $6@6 50 per cwt.

POTATOES—The market is abundantly supplied, and sales are slow, even at the low current rates. We quote at 35@45c ₩ bushel, as to quality. New California Potatoes are in the market even at this early day, but sell at a great advance on the foregoing quotations.

ONIONS—An advance in the California market has had a corresponding effect on ours. We quote jobbing at 3c ₩ ℔, though dealers pay hardly so much. Jobbers' buying prices are 2½@2¾c.

APPLES—Common lots from wagons, not boxed, command 1a1½c ₩ ℔. Neatly packed for shipping, choice varieties readily sell for 90c@$1 ₩ box.

BUTTER—The quality of the supply seems to be somewhat improved on much that has passed through hands heretofore during the past few months. Our quotations are for fresh roll 25@30 cts per ℔; solid in kegs 15@20; in brine 20@30 cents. Choice dairy is still held at a high figure.

CHEESE—Oregon made is well supplied at current rates which are 17@18 cts per ℔.

EGGS—The supply is again full and prices to-day are weak and dull at 15 cents per dozen. Low figures in San Francisco presage a decline to 15 or 16 cents a dozen here.

BACON—The prospect for bacon is dull, and it is said to be difficult to place large lots even at current rates. Quotations are furnished, for country cured, at the low rates of 8@9 cents per ℔ for shoulders, 11@12 for sides and 14a15 for hams. Established fancy brands sugar-cured, etc., command an advance.

LARD—But little change is noted, the demand being limited. We quote at 10a11 cents per ℔ in kegs and 12a13 in tins.

POULTRY—Good lots of chickens are in fair request at $4 50 per dozen with a possible advance of 50 cents on choice fat hens.

FRESH MEATS—Beef is in good supply at 6@7 cents per ℔. Sheep $3 50@4 00 per head. Dressed hogs 6a7 cents per ℔.

TALLOW—The ruling quotations are 6@8 cents per ℔.

HIDES—We quote green at 6½, salted 7½@8 cents, and dry 16@17 cents per ℔.

WOOL—There is nothing doing at present. Late advices from the east, though not encouraging to our prediction of full rates, yet contain nothing to convince us that this year's clip will not be in good demand at a paying figure. Quotations here are nominal at 25a30 cents per pound.

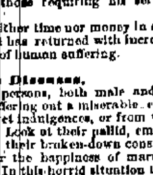
TO THE UNFORTUNATE.
NEW REMEDIES. NEW REMEDIES

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary.



623 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhoea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

DR. GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned from visiting the principal Hospitals of Europe, and has resumed practice at his Dispensary, 623 Kearny street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco, where his old patients and those requiring his services may find him.

The Doctor has spared neither time nor money in seeking out new remedies, and has returned with increased facilities for the alleviation of human suffering.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible, life-destroying maladies—see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to DR. GIBBON, a physician who has made private diseases his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate case, without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the faces, furred tongue, feted breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN,

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions. By inclosing Ten Dollars coin, in registered letter through the Postoffice or through Wells, Fargo & Co., a package of medicine will be forwarded to any part of the Union.

All communications strictly confidential.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who, with bogus sworn-to certificates, dupe the unwary —one of the self-styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places, are tradesmen and became too lazy too work at their trades. Some are tinsmiths, shoemakers, newspaper carriers, intelligence office keepers, etc. The only way to avoid imposition is to make inquiry—it will cost you nothing, and may save you many regrets; for, as advertising physicians in eight cases out of ten are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles, certificates, pretended patients' letters, etc. Dr. Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his offices of his ability to treat diseases that he proposes to cure.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 623 Kearney street, corner Commercial, San Francisco, Post Office Box 1,957.

REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 1,957 ON THE LETTER. Consultations FREE.

Correspondents will please inform DR. GIBBON that they read his advertisement in the Daily Oregonian. jy6dapt

Has saved many a failing business;
Has preserved many a large business;
And insures success in any business.

GIRARD'S SECRET.—Stephen Girard said, in his old age: "I have always considered advertising liberally and long to be the great medium of success in business, and the prelude to wealth. And I have made it an invariable rule to advertise in dull times as well as busy times, long experience having taught me that money thus spent is well laid out, as by continually keeping my business before the public it has secured many sales that I otherwise would have lost."

ADVERTISE YOUR BUSINESS.
KEEP YOUR NAME BEFORE THE PUBLIC.
JUDICIOUS ADVERTISING INSURES A FORTUNE.
IF BUSINESS IS DULL, ADVERTISE.
IF BUSINESS IS BRISK, ADVERTISE.

The man who didn't believe in advertising has gone into partnership with the sheriff, and the sheriff does the advertising.
